“THE BRAND IS THE HEART OF A COMPANY”

People who turn an idea into a trademark invest a considerable amount of time, money and passion. That's why a trademark deserves the best protection it can get. Our law firm represents several of the most highly valued and best known brands in the world. One hundred percent protection is therefore obligatory.

We are honoured to have some of the biggest global players place their trust in us. However, we apply the same degree of care and dedication to every trademark, design, patent or copyright that we work with.

Our international experience and collaboration with experts on every continent makes our law firm one of the most sought after partners in the area of international trademark law.

In 2007, Dr. Sylvia Freygner founded FREYGNER ADVOCATUR. Today the law firm is a highly-specialised boutique that focuses on intellectual property and international tax law, as well as competition law, with bases in Stans, Vaduz, Zurich and Vienna. Intellectual property and industrial property rights are two of the longest-standing areas of expertise of our law firm.

Our clients place their trust in our expertise in the areas of trademark, design, patent, copyright, competition and licensing law.

DESIGN LAW

Our law firm assists you in verifying the protectability of a design, whether it's during the application and registration process or when defending the registered design in the event of legal infringements by third parties.

- Protection of designs and prototypes
- Development of industrial property rights strategies
- Design applications
- Filing of design license agreements
- Prosecution of trademark infringements
- Cease and desist orders and claims for damages
- Warning letters and temporary injunctions
- Defence against unwarranted warning letters

IP BOX AND TAX PLANNING

The EU's attention is currently focused on the tax regime in Switzerland, in particular, a special tax regime that is known as "IP box" (Intellectual Property Box). This scheme allows for a favourable taxation of income from research and development. The IP box also exists in the EU member states of Belgium and Luxembourg where it is used to encourage research and development.

An IP box is when a sum at a legally permitted amount can be deducted from the sum total of the positive income from intellectual property rights. The remaining income is then taxed at the current tax rate, which overall results in a much lower rate of tax.

Switzerland is one of the last countries in Europe that is continuing to develop this legal principle as a non-EU country.

We support our clients with the tax-related structuring of their intellectual property rights in domestic and international company law structures and with the planning of license models and licensing agencies. We will support you in the setting up of an IP box and with the associated tax-related and legal benefits.
